

MSME Talent Mela

Mr. Kalraj Mishra, Union Minister for MSME had inaugurated the 2-day Talent Mela at the Institute campus, convened with the aim of matching right employers with right placement seekers with the right skills.

Addressing the assemblage, the hon'ble Minister had highlighted that simplification of procedures is the main concern, towards which the government is taking number of initiatives. A number of incubation centres will be created to facilitate the youth with exposure to practical situations in MSMEs. As part of the initiative, he suggested that MSME products should conform to international standards. He also emphasised that such melas should be organised at every district to address the issues concerning the unemployed youth.

Mr. Surendra Nath Tripathi, IAS, Jt. Secretary-SME, Ministry of MSME, speaking on the occasion, had underscored the importance of the need for promotion of MSMEs. A number of enterprises spread across the country are in want of skilled man-power. The talent mela platform would create the opportunity to match right employers and employees. Even a portal has been created for this purpose so that various agencies can work on the same wave length, he said.

Earlier, Mr. M. Chandrasekhar Reddy, Director General of ni-msme explained the importance of MSMEs and MSME Talent Mela to ensure matching of placement seekers with suitable enterprises. This is a unique feature created by the Institute in the recent past to meet the requirements of unemployed youth.

Mr. T. Muralidharan, Chairman of TMI highlighted the importance of the mela and of tuning in the prospective employees to availing the opportunities at hand.

Mr. Arun Kumar Jha, Director General of NIESBUD pointed out the need for ensuring work for the unemployed youth. A well-structured approach paves the way to an improved mechanism to tap right person for the right job.

Mr. Ravindranath, Chairman and Managing Director of NSIC observed that such services are being extended to other countries to identify prospects across the globe. Incubation centres are being established to give practical exposure in the field of MSME.

Mr. Bandaru Dattreya, Member of Parliament stated that unless enterprises work well jobs would be limited. Therefore, focus should be given to creating enterprises resulting in generation of jobs automatically. The Government of India has been launching various schemes to popularise entrepreneurial culture amongst the youth.

The inaugural event concluded with Mr Jayakar Rao Gutty, Faculty Member (SEM of ni-msme) proposing the vote of thanks. On the first day of the event, about 50 employers and more than 3,000 youth had participated in the mela, and over 300 candidates were short-listed for placement.
