RATIONALE

Today’s international trade is not only highly competitive but also dynamic. Necessary responsive framework to make exports compete globally is essential. In order to harness these gains from trade, the transaction costs, in turn dependent on the framework support, involved need to be low for trading within the country and for international trade. International trade is a vital part of development strategy and it can be an effective instrument of economic growth, employment generation and poverty alleviation. Market conditions change, almost daily, requiring quick response and more importantly, anticipation of the future requirements is the need of the hour. To gear with the changing requirements, it is essential that the framework has to remain in pace and change in anticipation, accordingly, and then only international trade can pick up the speed envisaged.

The importance of logistics in the import and export business is irrefutable and can arguably be one of the most important aspects to the success of your company. Often times the best way to ensure efficient, accurate, and robust supply of your products on time and in the same condition as they left either domestically or internationally, is to hire a third-party logistics company. Hiring a 3PL provider will not only give you back some of your sacred time, but it also gives you assurance that you will have the resources to promise consistent deliveries to your customer and real-time oversight of the entire process.
