GENESIS

ni-msme was originally set up as Central Industrial Extension Training Institute in 1960 as a department of the Ministry of Industry & Commerce, Government of India. The Institute was shifted to Hyderabad in 1962 and re-named as Small Industry Extension Training Institute (SIETI). The UNIDO recognized the outstanding performance of SIETI under the scheme centers of excellence, for its meritorious performance accorded the National Status and renamed as National Institute for Small Industries Extension and Training (nisiet) in 1994. Since then the Institute has come a long way, carving a place of distinction for itself in the domain of MSME promotion, achieving recognition both nationally and internationally. To cope with the demands of globalisation, the MSME-D Act 2006 has been made effective from 2nd October 2006. Accordingly, the Institute too has changed its structure and was once again re-christened as ni-msme from 11 April 2007. The management of the Institute rests with a Governing Council, appointed by the Government of India. The Governing council acts through the Director General.
